March Holidays in the U.S. and Italy

Current Music in the U.S.

Hello Everyone! Happy March!

Great work on your exams!

お疲れ様でした!

You have all worked so hard so I hope that you take a little break. School is important but your health is also important.

This week, I have some free time so I am going to finish watching Jujitsu Kaisen. So far, I really like the show! It reminds me of two of my favorite anime, Gurren Lagann (天元突破グレンラガン) and Noragami (ノラガミ).

I also want to read the book Parade by Hiromi Kawakami.

What have you been watching or reading now?
Please tell me your recommendations!

Also, this week I was surprised by the climate disaster in the U.S. in the state of Texas. Usually, Texas is a hot place, but recently, it snowed in Texas and many people had no electricity. 70 people died. I hope people will start making changes to stop global warming! Climate change is a serious issue that we must fight against every day.

Let's all do our best to help each other all over the world!

-- Julia

Current Events Japan

あなたの声はあなたのスーパーパワー。Your voice is your superpower.

In 143 days, the Japanese government will talk about the LGBT Equality Act (LGBT平等法).

Now, Japan is the only G7 country that does not prohibit discrimination. So, the organization "Equality Act Japan" made a petition for Japanese people to sign. The goal is to get the LGBT Equality Act (LGBT平等法) approved before the Olympics this year. 本キャンペーンの目標は、LGBT平等法（性的指向・性自認を理由に少数派も多数派も差別をしてはいけません、と定めた法律）を国会で可決・成立させることです。 You can sign the petition at: equalityactjapan.org

American Slang

"I woke up today and chose chaos"
"They woke up today and chose chaos" -

This is a common, funny catchphrase on the internet now. You say this when you act in a disordered, funny way or if you see another person act in a funny, hectic way.

"This goes hard" "That goes hard" -

This is also a common phrase. It means: "I really like this." or "That is really amazing".
