Holidays in the U.S. and
Current Events

Current Slang and Music in the U.S.

Hello Everyone! Happy April!

This is Kakogawa Nishi High School's English Newsletter. Every month, with this newsletter, you can practice English, learn about current events, and learn about popular American music and slang.

This school year, I'm excited to meet the new first year students. And I'm excited to talk to the second years and the third years again too. I hope you all had a good Spring vacation.

I'm excited to be at Kakogawa Nishi for one more year. Now, I have lived in Japan for 1 year and 8 months. I can't wait to talk to all of the amazing students at this school again.

If you want to practice speaking English, please be brave and talk to me anytime. I always enjoy talking to you. Don't worry about grammar! When speaking, grammar is not important. Trying your best and practicing is most important.

Good luck this year everyone!

April Holidays in the U.S.

April 12th - First day of Ramadan

This day is important to the Islamic Religion.

If you are interested in other country's religion, please research about Ramadan! This holiday lasts for 1 month and ends on May 12th.

April 30th - Arbor Day (Day of Trees)

On this day, people in the U.S. plant new trees and they clean up garbage to help the environment. This holiday is important to remember how important trees and plants are for our lives.

Current Events In the World

Now, all over the world, people are being discriminated against because of their religion. Do you care about religion? Now there are over 4,000 religions in the world. The most popular are Hinduism, Buddhism, Islam, Christianity, and Judaism. Does your family have a religion? I think that people should have religious freedom. So, everyone should be free to worship how they want.

In France, many Muslims are being discriminate against because of their religion. Let's all learn about other religions together so that we can end religious discrimination!

American Slang

Dusty - (Adjective) to be bad, not likeable, ugly

Example: Nobody likes John. He's so dusty.

That girl over there looks dusty.

I don't like to talk to dusty people.

Bussin' - (バッシン) (Adjective) to be very good, usually used to describe food

Example:

Person A: Do you like your lunchbox today?

Person B: It's so good! It's bussin'
